

OCT 2 1990

Sgaramella L

UNIVERSITÀ DI PAVIA

DIPARTIMENTO DI GENETICA E MICROBIOLOGIA

«A. BUZZATI TRAVERSO»

VIA S. EPIFANIO, 14 - 27100 PAVIA (ITALIA)

02.10.90

Pavia, li .....

Dr. Joshua Lederberg
University Professor
Rockefeller University
New York

Dear Josh,

I have kept your nice letter of last summer on my desk for the last month, and I feel I cannot delay any further my answer. I hope I have not already lost my face with you! In connection with my leaving the University of Cosenza, which is now legally and (for me) morally possible, I have received some nice but so far vague promises which I hope will become substantial in a matter of a few months. Until then I have to wait and to postpone my plans of visiting you in N.Y., or better of staying for a year at R. U.. In January I shall come to the U.S for the Miami Winter Symposium and I will be happy to visit you in your new exciting position of active researcher. How are things going so far?

With OCSE and COGENE/ICSU we are debating about the issue of the release of GMO. What do you think of the enclosed note? If you can spare some time, I shall appreciate enormously your comments.

Yours sincerely,

Vittorio Sgaramella

enclosure (3 pages)

You're on right track.

More later.

1) I was just about to write you that we have funds to support you for 3 months full time, specifically for your "historical" work. It could be stretched for longer if used as a supplement. Thaler and Zahn are here and getting the lab reorganized.

Josh.

Sez. di Cristallografia: Via T. Taramelli, 16 - Tel. (0382) 36604

Sez. di Ecologia: Piazza Botto, 10 - Tel. (0382) 22319

Sez. di Genetica: Via S. Epifanio, 14 - Tel. (0382) 31036

Sez. di Microbiologia e Fisiologia Vegetale: Via S. Epifanio, 14
Tel. (0382) 303016